

Warren G. Harding Is the Next President

CARRIES EASTERN STATES BY GOOD BIG MAJORITY

Middle West Also Gives Large Vote in Favor of the Republican Candidates --Carries Ohio by Unexpected Vote.

Flash: Governor James M. Cox has wired his congratulations to Senator Warren G. Harding on the latter's election as President of the United States.

BULLETIN

DAYTON, OHIO, Nov. 2.—The Dayton Daily News of which Governor James M. Cox is the proprietor has issued an extra edition conceding the election of Senator Warren G. Harding as President of the United States.

Special to the Missourian.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—Senator Warren G. Harding will be the next President of the United States.

Returns up to midnight here seem to have assured him more than enough electoral votes to win.

New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, the states having the largest number of electoral votes went for Harding overwhelmingly.

More surprising was the Senator's smashing victory in Ohio, the home state of both candidates, where the campaign had been even more bitter than in the rest of the nation.

Returns from approximately one-fourth of the precincts in that state gave Harding a majority of over 100,000 with every indication that this would be increased rather than decreased by the latter returns.

Sentors Harding seems certain to have carried every state in New England. In the middle west, earlier returns gave him commanding leads in Indiana, Wisconsin and Iowa. In Michigan the Harding victory was overwhelming.

Missouri alone of the states classed as middle western seemed to have gone Democratic.

The first scattering returns from Minnesota gave Harding a big lead.

Kansas which went for Wilson in 1916, went for Harding this year.

Nebraska another Wilson state in 1916 gave Harding a good lead on the face of early returns.

The solid South remained unbroken according to all indications. Tennessee which had been claimed by the Republicans had also seemed safely Democratic. Kentucky which the Republicans had also claimed as doubtful territory gave the Democratic ticket a good lead on the face of early returns.

Oklahoma seemed to have gone for Cox although returns for this state were only scattering.

11 AMENDMENTS

MAY FAIL HERE

Possible County Indication May Be Found in the Hallsville Returns.

A possible indication of the Boone County attitude toward the proposed constitutional amendments was found in the returns from Hallsville which were the first to be received from any precinct. The count on amendments is usually postponed until after the votes for the candidates have been counted and in many cases are not available until several days after the election.

The Hallsville results show the majority against each of the fifteen amendments, except No. 11 and No. 13.

Amendment No. 11 was designed to enable qualified voters of Missouri, who are absent from the state on account of military service to cast their ballots.

Amendment No. 13 is the bone-dry amendment designed to help enforce the federal prohibition amendment.

Hallsville voted against all the proposed constitutional amendments except No. 11, and No. 13. The figures were as follows, the "No" vote being first: No. 1, 273 to 8; No. 2, 215 to 111; No. 3, 219 to 93; No. 4, 229 to 136; No. 5, 273 to 64; No. 6, 405 to 69; No. 7, 225 to 103; No. 8, 221 to 138; No. 9, 266 to 77; No. 10, 235 to 74; No. 11, 106 to 133; No. 12, 255 to 71; No. 13, 138 to 378; No. 14, 258 to 74; No. 15, 219 to 118.

Arch Y. Slate, proprietor of a tailoring shop at 812 East Broadway, broke his right arm between the shoulder and elbow last night when he fell from the hay loft of his barn at 1500 Hinkson avenue.

He had gone into the loft to cut a bale of hay for his horses when he slipped through a hole in the loft. His arm struck the ladder used in climbing into the loft. In falling his foot caught between the rungs of the ladder and he swung head downward until he was able to pull himself up with his left arm and loosen his foot. He received no other injuries of consequence.

1,300 PLURALITY IN COLUMBIA

Almost Complete Returns Give Democrats 3,385 and Republicans 2,030.

The three voting precincts in Columbia combined returned a Democratic plurality of approximately 1,300, according to the totals as compiled at 11:30 o'clock. The Democratic vote compiled at that hour was 3,385 and the Republican vote was 2,030. Approximately 350 more votes were to be counted.

The vote was divided among the three precincts as follows: First, 1164 Democratic, 783 Republican; second, 1206 Democratic, 427 Republican; third, 955 Democratic, 620 Republican.

The total vote of approximately 5,300 cast today is almost double the total vote of approximately 3,000 cast four years ago, and the latter figure was a record at that time.

In many precincts of the larger cities tents had to be put up to accommodate the prospective voters.

EXTRA 12:30 A. M.

Cox and Atkinson Lead in Missouri

Democratic Ticket Slightly Ahead on Partial Returns From State—Long Ahead of Spencer.

By R. O. T. C. Wireless

At 11 o'clock a message was intercepted at R. O. T. C. headquarters that gave Cox 39,864 to Harding's 38,129 votes in Missouri from the precincts reported at that hour.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—Early results from the state of Missouri indicated that the Democratic would carry the state for President, governor and senator. A first Arthur M. Hyde, Republican candidate for governor, seemed to have a slight lead over John M. Atkinson, Democratic, but later figures reversed this.

From the start Cox maintained a lead over Harding and Breckinridge Long over Selden P. Spencer for the U. S. Senate.

IN MISSOURI

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—The first 27 precincts of the 3,810 in this state give Harding 2,313, Cox 3,859; for U. S. senator, Spencer (Rep.), 1,941, Long (Dem.), 2,940; for governor, Hyde (Rep.), 1,959, Atkinson (Dem.), 1,904.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—125 precincts in this state give Harding 14,910, Cox 7,022; for U. S. senator, Spencer (Rep.), 12,999, Long (Dem.), 15,508; for governor, Hyde (Rep.), 12,923, Atkinson (Dem.), 15,653.

Cole County in four of forty-nine precincts gave Cox 214, Harding 480, Long 222, Spencer 479, Atkinson 230, Hyde 429, Nelson 218, Roach 473.

Miller County in seven precincts gave Cox 744, Harding 959, Long 744, Spencer 959, Atkinson 730, Hyde 950, Nelson 787, Roach 960.

Montana County four precincts out of nineteen gave Cox 526, Harding 1,124, Long 697, Spencer 1,020, Atkinson 697, Hyde 1,020, Nelson 707, Roach 1,020.

COX PROBABLY HAS LOST OHIO

1,000 Precincts of 7,269 in That State Give 69,000 Majority to G. O. P.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 2.—Governor James M. Cox apparently has lost all chance of carrying Ohio. The first 1,000 precincts of the 7,269 in the state gave Harding a majority of 69,000.

Cox's strength has been conceded to be within the cities, where the returns would naturally be earlier than in the normally Republican farming territory; so that politicians believe there is little chance of the Harding lead being overcome.

The loss of Ohio by Cox according to pre-election forecasts would make it almost impossible for him to win in the nation.

SCHOOL BUILDING NEEDED

W. L. Oliver Discusses Crowded Condition in City.

"Some sort of building program will be urgent if not necessary for next summer," said W. L. Oliver, superintendent of city schools, at a meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association last night.

"Perhaps an added grade school on Section road, or other convenient locality, and the removing of all the seventh grades to the Jefferson School would relieve the situation temporarily. The most desirable solution would be to organize a junior high school and, if the suggestion meets the approval of the community, we shall direct our energies along that line."

The first grade at the Benton school has fifty-eight students and the proper number is forty; the Field School primary class has fifty-two and it should have only forty. Basement rooms are being used and in some cases the teachers are taking care of two grades.

Senator Reed Votes Straight Ticket.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2.—Senator James A. Reed cast a straight Democratic ticket here today. At the polls, he said with an ironical smile, "Here it is: look it over."

NELSON LEADS BY 3,375 VOTES
